

William J. Ostiguy

RECOVERY HIGH SCHOOL

The William J. Ostiguy High School

provides a safe and supportive school environment for youth who have committed to making a change in their relationship to drugs and alcohol. While the objectives of academic competency and progress toward high school graduation are a primary focus, there is an equal commitment to a comprehensive health and wellness program that includes an individualized contract with the youth, commitment to addressing the impact of drugs and alcohol, linkage with a behavioral health clinician when necessary, family support, and comprehensive care management and resource coordination.

“Here at this school, everyone is in this together. The peer support is great. Without this school, I would probably be back doing the same things with my old friends and not moving forward with my life. All the doors that were closed are opening because I am sober and doing the right thing on a daily basis.”

- Zachery P.

Ostiguy High is an Action for Boston Community Development program in collaborations with the Boston Public Schools and the Gavin Foundation.
